

Clinic Portal Quick-Start Guide

For clinic staff — how to use your GritLeanPulse partner portal

GritLeanPulse — SJK & Sons LLC

1. Getting Started

Go to gritleanpulse.com/clinic-portal. The first staff member from your practice to sign up registers as the account admin; every teammate after that registers their own name and PIN under the same clinic code. Each person has their own separate login — there is no single shared password to manage or lose track of.

- Enter your clinic code, your name, and choose a PIN.
- From then on, sign in with that same clinic code, name, and PIN — your session stays active for 12 hours.

2. Your Patient Roster

After signing in, you land on your roster — every patient currently enrolled with your clinic code. At the top, four summary numbers give you the state of your whole patient population at a glance: total active patients, average weight change, 14-day check-in rate, and how many patients currently have a flag.

Automatic Flags

The roster surfaces two things automatically, so you never have to comb through every patient one by one to find who needs attention:

- Overdue for check-in — a patient hasn't logged in 10 or more days.
- Possible weight regain — a patient has gained 2 or more pounds since their last check-in.

Patients with a flag are sorted to the top of your roster automatically.

3. Viewing a Patient

Tap any patient on your roster to see their shared health profile — whatever categories they've consented to share (macros, weight, measurements, medical conditions, medications, supplements, GLP-1 data, exercise, mental wellness, women's or men's health, and biomarkers, depending on what they've opted into) plus a history of their past submissions.

4. What You Can't See

A patient's account is private to them by default. You only ever see what a patient has actively chosen to share with your practice — nothing more. If a category is withheld, the patient detail page tells you plainly that it's withheld, rather than showing nothing and leaving you to wonder.

5. Adding More Staff

Anyone else at your practice can register their own login the same way you did — same clinic code, their own name and PIN. There's no limit on how many staff accounts your clinic can have.
